BIOGRAPHY.

Anna Bon is an entrepreneur, investor and infrastructure builder working across AI, energy and capital. She is Co-Founder & CEO of Black Vault, Co-Founder & Board Member of DeHealth, Co-Founder of Army Health System, Initiator of Energy Nation, and a Member of the Supervisory Board of Yaroslav Mudryi National Law University.

Anna Bon (Anna Bondarenko in official records) is an entrepreneur, investor and infrastructure builder working across AI, energy and capital. Her primary focus is the physical infrastructure of the AI economy: AI/HPC data centres, energy capacity and the relationship between compute, capital and economic sovereignty. She is Co-Founder & CEO of Black Vault, an AI and energy infrastructure platform developing sites in Germany. In 2021 she co-founded DeHealth, a digital health company whose AI-powered health assistant is used in more than 80 countries, and founded the DeHealth Charitable Foundation. She is also a co-founder of DefenseMed Innovations, developer of Army Health System for military medicine, and Initiator of Energy Nation, a civic initiative focused on Ukraine's long-term economic development. In September 2026 she joined the Supervisory Board of Yaroslav Mudryi National Law University. A classically trained violinist, she has also performed at institutional venues in Europe and at the Vatican Apostolic Library.
